Assignment 4: Requirements Analysis

Based upon your, admittedly limited, interview the TA (Lee Martie) in class today, write a requirements document that specifies the nature of the system to be developed.

You should focus on the what, not the how, and acknowledge in the document which information you would like to know, but do not know yet (you could do this in the form of questions you would have liked to also ask).

You may want to follow the outline of a requirements document as discussed in class.
