

Dear Author:

Here are the guidelines and pertinent information for submission of your paper(s).

Please note: It is of particular importance that you leave sufficient space in the lower left corner of the first column on the first page for ACM to fill in the copyright information. There is a 10 page maximum on your paper. Up to two additional pages may be purchased at $100 per page (contact the Program Chair at ics00@ics.uci.edu).

Please submit a camera-ready electronic copy of your manuscript (in PostScript) in 8 1/2" x 11" page size following the proceedings format appended below. Please do not put page numbers on your paper. Submit the paper via FTP to <ftp.ics.uci.edu>. Use anonymous login, `cd` to `incoming/ICS00`, change mode to binary, and "put" your file there. Use the paper number from the reviews sent to you as your file name.

Proceedings templates to create the camera-ready copy are available in Word, WordPerfect, FrameMaker and LaTeX. These templates are located at: <http://www.acm.org/signs/pubs/proceed/template.html>.

An electronic version of your paper will be included into the ACM Digital Library.

The ACM copyright form below must be signed and returned to us. I caution you that ACM will not publish any paper that is not accompanied by a signed copyright form. In those cases where there is more than one author per paper, the first-named (assumed senior) author only must sign.

The full ACM Copyright policy is available via http://www.acm.org/pubs/copyright_policy.html.

Please federal express or mail the signed copyright form so that it is received by Melanie Sanders by March 10th 2000. The signed copyright form should be sent to:

ACM COPYRIGHT FORM

Title of Work:

Author(s):

Publication or Conference Name and Date:

A. TRANSFER OF COPYRIGHT AGREEMENT

Copyright to the above work (including without limitation, the right to publish the work in whole or in part in any and all forms of media, now or hereafter known) is hereby transferred to the ACM (for U.S. Government work, to the extent transferrable*) effective as of the date of this agreement on the understanding that the work has been accepted for publication by ACM.

However, each of the Authors retain the following rights:

1 All other proprietary rights except copyright (and the publication rights transferred to ACM), such as patent rights.

2 The right to reuse, without fee, in future works of the Author's own provided that the ACM citation and Copyright notice are included.

3 The right to post a personal copy on non-ACM servers for limited noncommercial distributions, provided that the ACM Copyright notice is attached to the personal copy and that the server prominently displays a general policy notice (see sample of Server Notice in Revised ACM Interim Copyright Policy, version 2, section 5.3) about the use of copyright works it contains.

4 Employers who originally own copyright may distribute copies of works of their employees within the employer's organization.

This Form must be signed by the Author or, in the case of a "work made for hire," by the employer and must be received by ACM, Inc. --See Box C-- before processing of the manuscript for publication can be completed. Authors should understand that consistent with ACM's policy of encouraging dissemination of information each published paper will appear with the following notice:

"Permission to make digital or hard copies of part or all of this work for personal or classroom use is granted without fee provided that copies are not made or distributed for profit or commercial advantage and that copies bear this notice and the full citation on the first page. Copyrights for components of this work owned by others than ACM must be honored. Abstracting with credit is permitted. To copy otherwise, to republish, to post on servers or to redistribute to lists, requires prior specific permission and/or a fee."

ACM revised 7/97

TO: Authors Submitting Papers for Publication by ACM
FROM: ACM Director of Publications
SUBJECT: ACM Copyright Procedures

Thank you for submitting a paper for publication by ACM, Inc. ACM's publications are read throughout the world, and we must deal with requests for reprinting, republishing, redistributing, digitizing, posting to servers, translating, anthologizing, and other actions.

It is the policy of ACM to own the copyrights on its technical publications to protect the interests of ACM, its Authors and their employers, and at the same time to facilitate the appropriate reuse of this material by others.

United States Copyright Law requires that the transfer of copyright of each contribution from the Author to ACM be confirmed in writing. It is necessary that Authors sign either Part A or Part B of the ACM Copyright Form and return it with the manuscript to the address on the Form (see Revised ACM Interim Copyright Policy, sections 2.1, 4.1, 4.2).

If you are employed and you prepared your paper as part of your job, the rights to your paper may initially rest with your employer. In that case, when you sign the ACM Copyright Transfer Form, we assume you are authorized to do so by your employer. If not, it should be signed by someone so authorized.

For jointly authored papers, an original signature is required from one (assumed senior) Author only. However, we assume all Authors have been advised and have consented to the terms of this Form.

Authors who are U.S. government employees and/or whose papers are not copyrightable as part of certain Government contract work, are not required to sign Part A, but all co-authors outside the Government contract are.

Part B of the Form is to be used instead of Part A only if any or all Authors are U.S. Government employees and they prepared the paper as part of their job, or the work is an uncopyrightable product of a Government contract.

ACM Authors have all the rights scientific authors have historically enjoyed, including the right to present orally the submitted or similar material in any form; the right to reuse in future works of the Author's own with notice and credit to ACM; the right to republish in any form of media with notice and credit to ACM, in works published by the employer or for the employer's internal business purposes; the right to reproduce and distribute for peer review in reasonable quantities (see Revised ACM Interim Copyright Policy, sections 3, 5.3); and all proprietary rights other than copyright.

Although it is not part of ACM's policy to grant Authors or their organizations the sole right to approve permissions for republishing by third parties, ACM always seeks the approval of its Authors, for jointly authored papers the first-named (assumed senior) Author only, in weighing such requests. This is done as a matter of professional courtesy.
